

2024 Bio - BLUE MAEVES (Mirthe Visscher)

Blue Maeves is an alternative synth pop artist who blends her musical talents with her design passions. Her performances blend her live looping with digital art, creating an immersive experience that transports you into a dreamy mood. She is influenced by artists such as Mark Rebillet, Tash Sultana, Tame Impala and Amber Mark, and her music is characterised by its dreamy melodies, smooth synths, and improvisational elements.

Maeves' artistic journey began as a singer-songwriter behind her parent's old piano. However, she lost touch with music and her feelings for a while. She rediscovered her passion for music when she purchased an RC505 looper, which marked the beginning of her electronic era. She has since ventured into the realm of digital art, crafting mesmerising visuals and lights that help create a dreamy mood.

Maeves' recently performed at DDW in 2023. She is currently collaborating with EDM producer Ruben de Jongh on an exciting new project and working with Helder Design to explore new concert experiences. Additionally, she is preparing to release her debut songs on Spotify, which will showcase analog synths, airy vocals and drum & bass rhythms.

Blue Maeves is an artist who is constantly exploring the possibilities of electronic music mixed with analog sounds and digital art. Follow her on Instagram and YouTube to stay up-to-date on her latest releases and performances.
